Why Retail Stores Need Feedback

Retail Stores are constantly battling online reviews. Today's customers would rather complain online before going through the trouble of physically involving a manager. Feedback offers an easy and discreet way for customers to voice their concerns in real-time, in store, and without the need for face-to-face confrontation.

Someone spilled a drink in the kids' section.

The toilet in the men's restroom is overflowing.

The women's changing room doors are locked.

The prices are all messed up in the accessories section.

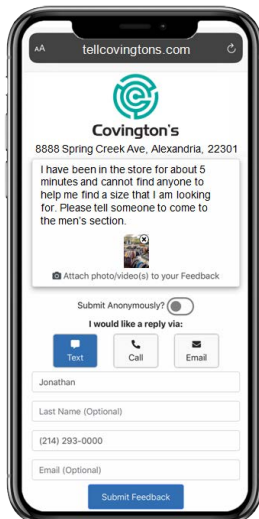

Your customers would like to tell You Something Are You Ready to Listen?

Benefits of Real-Time Feedback
